

JASON TANDON

Discipline

You feel it coming.
An incommensurate anger.
The gesture your father made like a butcher hacking through bone.

What must your face look like for your son's to look like this?

There's no paddle, no switch.
When you're at the table
making noise with your peas, you'll close your mouth. Beg pardon.