

Social Care Platform

ZeOmega's SDOH Solution

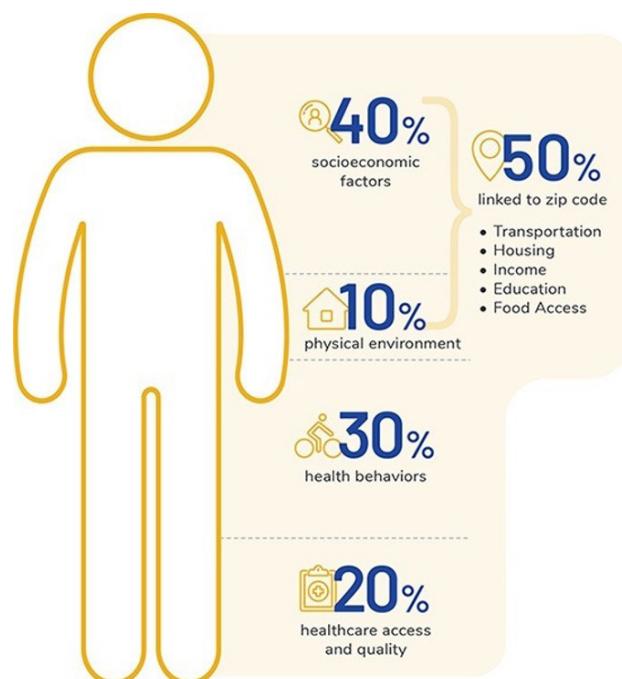

The ZeOmega Social Care Platform is a set of Social Determinants of Health (SDOH) analytics and workflow tools. This groundbreaking platform aggregates data from a wide variety of government, claims, and assessment sources to provide accurate indications of social risk at a community and personal level.

The data comprising these indications are presented in detailed dashboards that allow hypotheses to be tested through inquiry and visualization. The actionable results drive evidence-based strategy and measurable interventions using the intelligent orchestration of a rules-based engine that automatically drives next best practice workflows, closing gaps in physical, behavioral, and social care and reducing health disparity.

The ZeOmega Social Care Platform benefits your organization by identifying SDOH risks and needs across geographic areas, populations, and at an individual level. It helps define and design SDOH campaigns, informs corporate strategy, and mitigates health disparities to ensure health equity. Only the ZeOmega Social Care Platform informs the organization's leaders with actionable insights to craft strategy, creates better patient outcomes, and improves ROI for your healthcare organization.

As much as 80%* of a person's health is determined by the social and economic conditions of their homes and communities.
