

AERVIDEO

JOB VACANCY

January 2021

Our mission is to create new ways of seeing and capturing the world around us. We encourage you to break the rules of traditional filmmaking, look for new perspectives and leave your comfort zone.

- AERVIDEO Mission Statement

Industrial Design Engineer / Head of Products / Design Nerd (m/f/d) in South-Germany

We are AERVIDEO, a young startup in the realm of creative camera equipment, located in Stuttgart, Germany. With our first product 'AER - Throw Your GoPro' we enabled our customers to throw their actioncam for dynamic and unique aerial shots. We are now expanding our product range and are looking for a creative designer to assist us with the product development.

By default, we are 'Remote First', meaning no-one on the team is bound to a specific location. However, we've made the experience that when it comes to the development of physical products, it's crucial to work together locally. That's why this position is location-bound to the Stuttgart area. We're happy to assist with the re-positioning.

What we're looking for:

You know what a GoPro is and are interested in startups. Furthermore, we expect:

- a completed study within the field of industrial/product design or similar
- experience with CAD software
- experience in material design and production technology
- prototyping skills and the willingness to 'get your hands dirty'
- open and direct communication internally and externally
- very good English skills
- independent, reliable and proactive work effort

Additionally nice-to-have:

- experience with glider airplanes and aerodynamics
- affinity to action- and outdoor sports

What we offer:

We're looking for a long-term addition to our team. We offer:

- challenges to grow and develop from
- big responsibility and creative freedom
- salary and equity in the company
- attractive opportunity to (financially) participate in product success
- flexible schedule and unlimited vacation

Apply via www.aervideo.com/designer

www.aervideo.com

