About the Photo On Our Cover: “Self Portrait” by Zimari Atkinson, age 9, Willie Mays Clubhouse.
Thank you for making time to review our Annual Report. In the pages that follow, you will learn more about the critical work of Boys & Girls Clubs of San Francisco, a 123-year-old San Francisco institution.

Our 2014 program year was another memorable one. We are proud to share that we expanded our services, continued to achieve strong outcomes for youth, and won further national recognition for the effectiveness of our programs.

Most notable was the groundbreaking of the new Don Fisher Clubhouse which took place in November 2013. We were joined at the ceremony by Mayor Ed Lee, District 5 Supervisor London Breed, City Administrator Naomi Kelly, Department of Children Youth and Their Families (DCYF) Executive Director Maria Su, Doris Fisher, John Fisher, members of Gap Inc.’s leadership team, and BGCSF Board Members, youth members, alumni, parents and friends. The event showed our city’s enthusiasm for this new state-of-the-art youth facility in the heart of San Francisco. With an anticipated construction schedule of 15 months, everyone was excited that the first day of programming was not far off.

We expanded our services to the new KIPP San Francisco College Preparatory on Potrero Hill, thanks to the generous support of a long-time Board Member. We are excited to be part of this new high school and hope to expand our program as the school grows.

Our Tenderloin Clubhouse earned a Merit Award (second place) for “Best Overall Program” in BGCA’s National Program Excellence competition. We also continued to successfully place our youth in leading high schools to facilitate their academic achievement. And, we attained strong program outcomes that are documented on the following pages.

Leading this great organization is a true honor. On behalf of the Board of Governors, Trustees, and staff, we thank everyone who contributes their time, talent and financial resources to make this organization so successful!

Sincerely,

Bruce Callander
Board Chair

President

THE CHALLENGE: LEARNING TO TRUST

Colin lives at a hectic intersection in Hunters Point, with parents who are unemployed and battling drug addiction. He is particularly sensitive to the noise and chaos in the neighborhood because he has autism, and the arguments in nearby houses can keep him up all night. His disability and unstable home environment make focusing on academics extremely challenging, and also make Colin wary of new people. And yet, with the support of BGCSF, that’s just what he’s done—focus and succeed.

THE PATH TO SUCCESS

Colin doesn’t trust people easily, and at first the activities, energy level, and other kids overwhelmed him. But over time he learned to trust the Club staff, who worked with him through programs such as Formal Mentorship. Although learning poses extra challenges for Colin, with the support of the Club he was able to push himself to travel two hours each day to attend Lowell High School, the most competitive public high school in San Francisco. Club staff use coaching and a good dose of humor to ensure that Colin will successfully graduate from Lowell and go on to college. Through the Club, Colin was able to visit five colleges and is getting support to decide which will best meet his learning needs.

IN HIS OWN WORDS

“I took a chance on the Club when I started coming to the Willie Mays Clubhouse two years ago, and I’m really glad I did. The Club is a safe haven for me where I can be my whole self. They’ve given me the space to explore different ways of dealing with sensory overload, which helped me cope with classes at a top high school. The first day of the college tour was one of the best of my life, and it never would have happened without the Club.”
Healthy Lifestyles

Our goal is to become the healthiest place for kids in San Francisco by instilling lifelong healthy habits in all our Club members. Having an active Club environment, teaching healthy eating, providing prevention programs, and, when needed, offering access to health services are the main components of our health initiative. We work hard to ensure that our members are not only healthy now, but are also empowered to make healthy decisions for the rest of their lives.

A PROFILE IN HEALTHY LIFESTYLES

NAME: KATYA
AGE: 15
TENDERLOIN CLUBHOUSE AND CAMP MENDOCINO
YEARS AS A MEMBER: 5

THE CHALLENGE: LEARNING TO PERSEvere
Katya’s mom left the family when she was just 7 years old and her dad often works 60 hours per week as a chef in the San Francisco Ferry Building, in order to provide for Katya and her younger sister, Maria. Although Katya’s father taught her to cook, she still struggled with consistently making healthy eating choices, especially when surrounded by the inexpensive yet unhealthy restaurants and convenience stores throughout the Tenderloin where she lives. Katya also faced peer pressure to smoke cigarettes and try drugs, but learned how to distance herself from those influences, mostly by keeping busy at the Club.

A PATH TO SUCCESS
Katya credits the Club and Camp Mendocino with teaching her how to be healthy and make good choices. “Both my dad and the Club taught me to persevere and be strong.” At the Club Katya found a mentor who worked with her through her middle school years, teaching her about the importance of physical activity and avoiding unhealthy life choices such as drugs and alcohol. She became one of only two girls who played on her Clubhouse’s flag football team, helping the team make the Citywide flag football championship game.

The Club keeps her busy, which keeps her out of trouble, she says. From her teen staff job to cooking classes, girls’ fitness and teen nights on Fridays, Katya is able to engage in positive, structured programs that help her make healthy decisions.

IN HER OWN WORDS
“I’m grateful that I had the chance to start learning at a young age about leading a healthy life, while my mind was open. Now, I have the opportunity to be a positive influence and role model for the younger kids, helping them make good snack choices, getting them to exercise and teaching them how to compost and recycle. Making healthy life choices and being a role model makes me proud of myself and excited to see what I can accomplish in the future.”

2014 HIGHLIGHTS

91% of surveyed participants in our Healthy Relationships workshops reported that as a result of this program they will be more likely to demonstrate behaviors that reduce the risk of pregnancy and HIV/STIs

89% of surveyed participants reported they will be more likely to demonstrate positive character traits/decision making skills as a result of Why Try, a program that teaches persistence in motivation, avoiding conflicts and problem solving skills

93% of youth said there is an adult at the Club who believes they will be a success
A PATH TO SUCCESS
At the Tenderloin Clubhouse, Precious found a community of supporters who helped her face challenges one step at a time. She says the staff convinced her that she was going to achieve great things in the world by encouraging her to see her challenges as opportunities for growth. For two years, Precious was the Vice President of Curriculum for the Tenderloin Clubhouse’s Keystone Club, a leadership role that helped her become more community focused. Her work with Keystone inspired her to serve as the San Francisco Youth Commissioner for District 6, providing recommendations to the Board of Supervisors and Mayor regarding youth policies. Precious plans to go to college and earn a degree in applied mathematics, and because of these experiences, she strives to be a source of inspiration to young people who might be struggling like she once did.

IN HER OWN WORDS
“When I first moved to San Francisco, it was difficult for me to even call the Tenderloin my home. But the Tenderloin Clubhouse supported me and showed me I could achieve my dreams. Now, I want to be that source of inspiration and help other young people become more goal-driven. And because of the Club, I’m now proud to call the Tenderloin my home.”

THE CHALLENGE: ADAPTING TO AMERICAN CULTURE
Nine years ago Precious’ family left the Philippines in pursuit of the American Dream. But being an immigrant in San Francisco isn’t easy, and Precious struggled with her identity as she tried to assimilate into American culture. Negative thoughts sometimes made her want to give up altogether.

BEHAVIORAL HEALTH
Thanks to our Behavioral Health Services, the following support was provided to members:

37 youth were treated for anxiety
30 youth were treated for a depressive condition
11 youth were treated for complicated grief
42 youth were treated for an identifiable trauma
10 youth were treated for potential suicide

A PROFILE IN GOOD CHARACTER AND COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT

NAME: PRECIOUS
AGE: 18
TENDERLOIN CLUBHOUSE
YEARS AS A MEMBER: 5

By participating in our programs, Club members build strong character, improve leadership skills and develop values. We provide opportunities for our members to engage in their community and develop meaningful relationships with others, knowing that this encourages them to take responsibility for their community’s well-being.

Good Character and Community Engagement

By participating in our programs, Club members build strong character, improve leadership skills and develop values. We provide opportunities for our members to engage in their community and develop meaningful relationships with others, knowing that this encourages them to take responsibility for their community’s well-being.
Job Readiness with Earning Potential

When members transition out of Boys & Girls Clubs of San Francisco at age 18, we expect them to leave the Clubhouse with the skills, knowledge, and experience needed to make positive choices about their educational, professional and financial futures. To that end, our teens participate in career development programs that improve their leadership skills and professional competencies while exposing them to careers in some of the fastest growing industries in the Bay Area.

A PATH TO SUCCESS
At the Club, Khari developed relationships with staff and other youth. These connections gave him the confidence to get involved in Club activities—sports, Youth Workforce Development, Money Matters and Keystone. Shy at first, Khari found himself opening up and becoming more vocal—he even started to think about going to college. The college tour offered by Boys & Girls Clubs of San Francisco every spring was eye-opening. Prior to the tour, Khari had only seen City College of San Francisco, but thanks to the Club he found himself sitting on the grass at several California State University campuses, imagining what it would be like to study there.

The Club has since connected Khari with United Airlines, where he will be doing an internship in customer service. He’s excited to see the professional world and make connections. He dreams of the day when his career will enable him to help his mother.

IN HIS OWN WORDS
“My life would be different if I didn’t come to the Club. I’m so grateful that I got to grow up in San Francisco, and have the Club as a resource. Because of the Club, I started doing more of every thing from sports, music and art to summer jobs, and I became more outgoing. The more that I did, the more open my perspective became. I guess you could say my inner voice came out.”

THE CHALLENGE: FINDING HIS VOICE
Khari first attended the Ernest Ingold Clubhouse when he was six years old to play PeeWee basketball, but stopped going when his family moved to Hunters Point. Because of the dangers in the neighborhood, his mom would not let him go to any programs in Hunters Point and he lost touch with the Club around age 8. In high school, he found the Excelsior Clubhouse through the Mayor’s Youth Employment Program (MYEEP). He remembers being nervous on his first day, but soon got more comfortable and began making friends.

Since 1947, The Guardsmen has supported educational and outdoor initiatives with a focus on bettering the lives of at-risk youth in the Bay Area. Through events, such as the Christmas Tree Lot at Fort Mason and the Big Game Lunch, The Guardsmen raises funds that help send disadvantaged youth to summer camp. The vast majority of youth attending Camp Mendocino are sponsored through a Guardsmen campership. The Guardsmen is an all-volunteer, non-profit organization of approximately 150 respected community leaders from diverse professional backgrounds. Members of The Guardsmen generously volunteer their time and talent at Camp Mendocino and on our Board of Governors.

Saint Francis Foundation has been a vital partner as our agency expands its successful work in the Tenderloin. We continue to have our Club at 115 Jones Street; in addition we are now Master Tenant of Boeddeker Park (as of December 2014). Through Saint Francis Foundation’s leadership on the Tenderloin Health Improvement Partnership, cross-sector solutions that multiply our reach and impact in the Tenderloin were created. BGCSF is now part of a broad network of public, private and not-for-profit stakeholders that are working hand-in-hand to better health outcomes for the 33,000 residents of the Tenderloin. Thanks to our partnership with Saint Francis Foundation, Boeddeker Park is an example of positive change in this community.

Department of Children, Youth and Their Families (DCYF) is our largest financial supporter and a partner in our approach to youth development. Mayor Ed Lee stated, “Together, DCYF and our partners are making this a city where families succeed and children thrive.” We are honored to be one of the valued partners of DCYF, addressing the persistent inequities that make growing up in San Francisco a radically more risky experience for children who are born into challenging circumstances.

The Mayor’s Office of Housing and Community Development’s mission is to partner with the community to strengthen the social, physical and economic infrastructure of San Francisco’s low-income neighborhoods and communities in need. With capital investments from the Mayor’s Office of Housing and Community Development, BGCSF is able to make critical improvements to our Club facilities, making them safe and inviting for youth today and well into the future.

The San Francisco Police Department, led by Chief Greg Suhr, his Command Staff and District Captains, continues to find innovative ways to support Boys & Girls Clubs of San Francisco and its youth members. Since 2005, SFPD and Boys & Girls Clubs of San Francisco have formed partnerships to create safe places for young people to learn, grow and succeed, while fostering a better understanding between young people and police officers. We are extremely grateful to Chief Suhr and all the men and women of the SFPD who are committed to building stronger communities and meaningful relationships with young people.
Thank You, Corporate Donors

The corporate community has embraced Boys & Girls Clubs of San Francisco with its generosity, in-kind gifts, and human capital to support our Clubs and members. These are some of our most generous supporters this fiscal year.

Dodge & Cox

Dodge & Cox has been a longtime supporter of Boys & Girls Clubs of San Francisco. We were pleased to celebrate Dodge & Cox as our Gala Honoree, highlighting the firm’s many, many investment professionals for their Board service and financial generosity for youth serving organizations like BGCSF. We are proud to call Dodge & Cox a partner.

Visa

Boys & Girls Clubs of San Francisco is proud to partner with Visa to improve the quality of life for the youth of San Francisco. Through generous support of our events, job readiness programming, and volunteerism, Visa plays an integral part in providing high-quality services for BGCSF members. We applaud Visa and its employees for making community engagement a priority. BGCSF looks forward to Visa employees’ continued engagement during the company’s annual Global Volunteer Month.

BGCSF

BGCSF is grateful for the ongoing support provided by Twitter and its employees. Because of in-kind gifts provided by Twitter, our members have access to computers and other technology to successfully complete homework and be better prepared for the future. In addition, Twitter’s support provided scholarships for youth to attend Camp Mendocino. Twitter employees also give their time, and can often be seen volunteering with our youth, to help with homework or as mentors. We genuinely appreciate the support provided by Twitter, and know that the families and youth we serve value the support as well.

Bank of America

With generous support from Bank of America, BGCSF is able to provide leadership opportunities for high school youth seeking to improve their communities through service and leadership. The Student Leaders program is the prime example of Bank of America’s commitment to strengthening our communities by setting our young people up for success as future business and community leaders.

US Bank

BGCSF gratefully acknowledges the ongoing support provided by U.S. Bank. Their investment allows the organization to deliver essential academic support services for youth across eight Clubhouses, two school-based sites and Camp Mendocino. As the presenting sponsor of our golf tournament, U.S. Bank brings together more than 200 business and community leaders for a day of networking, competition and philanthropy. In addition to the dollars raised, U.S. Bank helps bring awareness to the important work that BGCSF does in our community all year long.

Gap Inc.

As a major investor in the Brighter Futures Capital Campaign, Gap Inc. has helped BGCSF to set the standard for high-quality youth development facilities in the city. With the latest Clubhouse addition - the new Don Fisher Clubhouse - youth and families will have access to a world-class facility for generations to come. Gap Inc. is a true community leader and partner when it comes to creating and supporting essential career development programs for at-risk youth. Middle school and high school members learn key job readiness skills and participate in hands-on career readiness experiences through Career Launch and Camp Old Navy. Gap Inc. employees can be seen volunteering their time at our Clubhouses, providing homework completion support or playing basketball with our youth. We value and appreciate the investment that Gap Inc. and its employees have made in BGCSF.

Charles Schwab

Charles Schwab and Co. and the Charles Schwab Foundation are longtime supporters of BGCSF. Our relationship takes on many forms - from Money Matters, a valuable financial literacy program developed by Charles Schwab and Boys & Girls Clubs, to Board service by Schwab employees, to employee volunteer days, to being the presenting sponsor of our Youth of the Year Luncheon for the last six years. All of us at BGCSF are grateful for the generous and consistent support that Charles Schwab & Co. provides to us.
