Serving the communities we call home

Every day since 1924 we've been proud to deliver quality products and good energy to our customers and our communities

What began as a small service station in Bouctouche, New Brunswick, has grown to include all the Atlantic provinces, and is now an international energy company.

Our family-owned, Canadian energy company operates this country's largest refinery in Saint John, New Brunswick, and we deliver heating oil and propane to customers across Eastern Canada and New England. We also operate more than 900 gas stations and a network of distribution terminals. In Ireland, we own the country's only refinery as well as Top Oil retail and home heating network..

Named one of Canada's Top 100 Employers for five consecutive years, our company is a place where people matter. We care for our employees and communities and are focused on providing a quality experience to our customers.
