

Merton at Home

Edition 4 June 2020

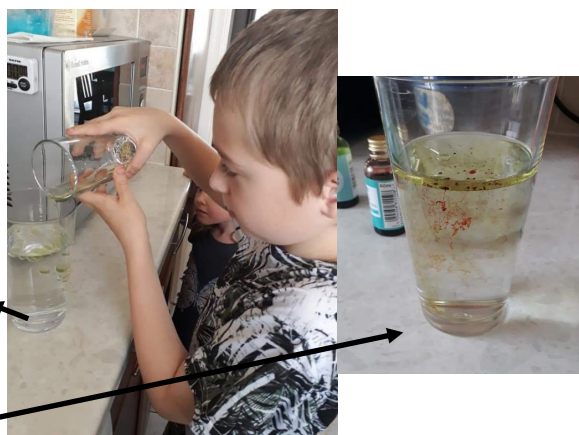

This week was wellbeing week—a chance to switch off and find something that you really love. We focussed on building a healthy body and knowing how to look after ourselves as well as giving us some “me” time. The children have been incredible this week and have been able to pick the challenges and activities that they wished to have a go at. It was lovely to see so many images of children just settling down to do a bit of colouring each day to relax themselves. I hope that they can take some of these activities on further as a means to keep calm.

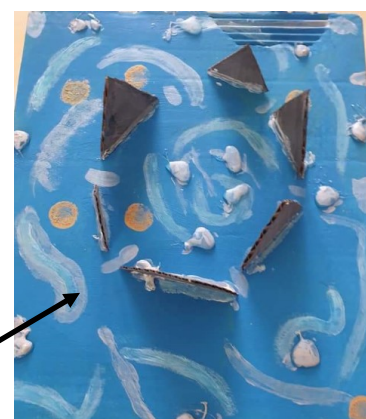

Ellie and Maisie have been working incredibly hard this week working through the work packs. I was especially pleased with the work they did on teeth and they have created these fantastic posters to help children remember to brush their teeth thoroughly! Amazing girls—any dentist would be happy to display these in their surgery.

Lewis has been hard at work teaching science to his little sister as they made these brilliant fireworks in a glass. I'm so glad you are enjoying the activities Lewis :-) Fayth in year 5 took on this weeks challenge cards and has made her sculpture of the animal with sharks circling their prey! What a brilliant way of getting creative Fayth—well done :-)

The Rules took on the scavenger hunt this week and used a collage app to document their journey—I love this and I love how active you all are getting on your bikes each week :-)

Florence in year 4 is a very keen gardener and whilst the weather has been so fantastic this week, Florence and her family have taken this opportunity to get out to allotment and see what's growing for them. Nothing beats home grown veggies :-)

Heidi and Olivia have used the work packs to help build their growth mind set and keep a positive attitude! I hope that the both of you remember to always celebrate your magic!!

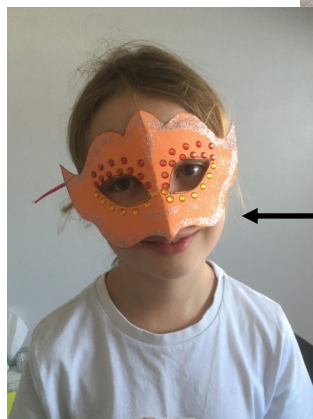

Ella— Louise celebrated her birthday this week and now there is no stopping her with her fantastic present! This is brilliant Ella—enjoy riding it :-)

Emily in Year 6 must have spent hours colouring in her mindfulness elephant! This is beautifully symmetrical and exceptionally neat Emily!

Nirav has been heading out and about again this week and it looks as though he has been near Farnborough airport with a great shot of Nirav and the airport roundabout !

Vanessa has made a fantastic mask to celebrate the Rio carnival! I love the symmetry Vanessa, Well done

Family Values Award...

The award this week goes to the Rule family. Each week they are consistently working hard and getting the whole family involved. They are out on their bikes, getting creative, completing their work packs and always having so much fun! Thank you for continually sharing your work with us each week.

Happy Birthday to you...

We would normally celebrate birthdays in assembly each week, but for now, we would like to say a huge Happy birthday to...

Gabi Lauren Sami Kaci Kayli
Holly Noah Brody Heidi

Birthdays will be shown from 21.6.20 to the 28.6.20
