

Strategy partners

At Aivo one thing motivates us: giving back time to people. We created a consulting program so that your clients can achieve their objectives focused on customer experience and customer success.

Is it for you?

This program is for consultants that want to develop strategies to improve customer service processes.

Boost value to customer service

Aivo puts AI solutions in the hands of our partners so they can improve their quality assurance, lower costs and boost customer service productivity in both voice and digital channels.

You'll be able to access online training and have other ways to communicate in order to be able to pitch value strategies to your customers. Even better, Aivo takes part in the consulting sessions with customers to tease out strategy with everyone. This way your bases are covered.
