DOCKETCALENDAR

Calendaring has been a source of headaches for litigators since the dawn of the quill pen.

Why? Because calendaring - to a lawyer - isn't as simple as filling in the correct calendar square...there are rules. Rules that vary from court to court and directly impact where, when, and even how documents and court appearances are expected to be dealt with.

A trial, for example, is likely to contain over one hundred related deadlines. Calendaring this manually takes hours. With DocketCalendar, calendaring an entire case takes less than 5 minutes, and that's just the tip of the iceberg!

Calendar your case in 5 minutes.

Write events DIRECTLY to your Outlook or Google Calendar.

Google G

Outlook

NO DOWNLOADS REQUIRED!

Recalculate + Recalendar your entire case when something changes

"Calendar Clipper"

Generate printable reports

Export to Excel, Outlook, Apple Calendar, PDF, CSV, Word & more.

Save information such as case name, jurisdiction, assigned calendars, categories and reminder preferences.

Keep past data for historical purposes or future use without cluttering your calendar.

Give all users access to case data.

Update case name with the option of updating past events related to case.

Save custom text.

Generate custom reports based on date range, case name, assigned attorney, event type, location, subject text, comments text or trigger.

Powered by CalendarRules.™

Protected by Microsoft Defender™.

Update details stored in location, subject or comments fields.

- ✔ Instantly populate deadlines on everyone's calendar.

- ✔ Store all of your calendaring related data and recall it each time you calculate new deadlines.

- ✔ Powerful built-in reporting tool that puts every deadline on your calendar right at your fingertips.

- ✔ Update all of your deadline-related information and push changes to your calendars instantly.

Only pay for what you need with flexible monthly pricing.

Add and remove courts and calendars as you need them. No long term contracts...

Each month you'll pay:

$15 per court + $15 per calendar. That's it, no asterisks.

Saves so much time, you have to experience it to believe it!

DOCKETCALENDAR

Find out why more people are switching to DocketCalendar than ever before...

Calendar your case in 5 minutes.

DocketCalendar completely automates the process of calculating groups of deadlines and creates all of your Trial events simultaneously. In the time it can take to simply count the days for your first deadline, DocketCalendar has calculated and created over 100 events for your case.

NO DOWNLOADS REQUIRED!

Completely cloud-based, DocketCalendar requires no software instalation. You don't even need a browser plugin. You just login and go.

Generate printable reports

DocketCalendar has an incredibly powerful reporting built into the application. Reports can be easily printed and you can even copy right off the screen and get incredible graphic reports pasted right into your Outlook and Gmail emails.

Save information such as case name, jurisdiction, assigned calendars, categories and reminder preferences.

DocketCalendar takes years of client feedback to provide essential case related information necessary for calendaring without bloatingi the application with complex processes. Everything you need to work with your deadlines can be stored right inside your case.

Give all users access to case data.

Because DocketCalendar is a cloud application, your users will always have access to relevent case information. DocketCalendar allows teams to collaborate on deadlines through a built in Firm Calendar and the ability to distribute deadlines to any calendar in your firm.

Save custom text.

DocketCalendar allows you to interact with all essential fields in your events and save text at any level sharing important details accross all your case events through the Description field or the Location or Subject fields opening up possibilites for organizing and tracking events as you never thought possible.

Powered by CalendarRules.™

CalendarRules court rules calculate more than a million deadlines for legal professionals every month. Trusted by the AMLAW 100, Mid Size firms and Solo Practitioners for exception detail. If there is a court rule for it.. There is a deadline for it.

Protected by Microsoft Defender™.

Powered by Azure™. Trusted by millions.

Write events DIRECTLY to your Outlook or Google Calendar.

DocketCalendar allows you to create events directly on any calendar in your Outlook or Google Environment. When you make updates to your events, they are automicatically updated on your calendar. When your case settles, DocketCalendar automatically removes all your case events.
Recalculate + recalendar your entire case when something changes.

Trials, depositions, and hearings get rescheduled. DocketCalendar knows how to recalculate your events and it even knows when certain events should not be recalculated. The rules are automatically recalled to adjust your due dates when things change and all of your calendar events are automatically updated.

Export to Excel, Outlook, Apple Calendar, PDF, CSV, Word & more.

DocketCalendar talks directly to your calendar but it also gives you a wealth of export options. Need to send a client a list of deadlines. Send them an Excel report, or even an Outlook file they can drop on their calendar to create a copy of deadlines on their own calendar!

Keep past data for historical purposes or future use WITHOUT cluttering your calendar.

When you case settles, you can remove all future deadlines and archive your entire history in just a few clicks. Always retain access to your historical case data with the DocketCalendar archive.

Update case name with the option of updating past events related to case.

DocketCalendar allows you to update your case name and keep all of your original deadlines.

Generate custom reports based on date range, case name, assigned attorney, event type, location, subject text, comments text or trigger.

Each event detail can be used to filter information into precise reports that can be easily printed or exported.

Update details stored in location, subject or comments fields.

One of the most powerful features of DocketCalendar is the ability to leverage the visible fields on your Calendar by pushing critical information directly to the subject of your case such as revised notes about a deposition reschedule so that when staff sees a deadline has moved they can see relevant context without digging for it.