

Product Designer

We are looking for a Product Designer to spearhead the design on a robust web application, which will be used internally across the whole company. The Product Designer will work closely with the UX and software development team to co-create beautiful and functional design.

Job Description & Core Requirements

- Solving user pain points is your main mission. Designing seamless user experiences must be your passion.
- You'll also be collaborating with cross-functional teams from various departments in the company to have a cohesive vision in creating user interfaces.
- Your eye for design is second to none and you're also highly technical in your application.
- UX should be one of your main strengths, being able to contribute to a highly agile development team that aims to build the best product out there.
- Your everyday routine is to work alongside the product teams, translating information design principles into product functionalities.
- You are also familiar with the Adobe Creative Cloud software suite.

Desired qualities:

- Minimum 3-4 years in product design for UI/UX for web and mobile applications
- Showing initiative in learning new technology and is always ready to brainstorm new ideas with the team.
- Knowledge in HTML5 and animation will be an added advantage.
