March 28, 1946 - May 21, 2016

Forty - one years have come and gone since I found the love of my life. We were just kids, new to the world with dreams of happiness yet to be fulfilled.

We talked about the future and planned for the best. Three years passed and we were one, bound forever to be put to the test.

You were twenty-two, just a kid out of school. I thought I was a man of the world, a working fool.

Our start was no picnic with bumps early on. But our love became stronger as each year was gone.

You've been behind me through thick and through thin it seems. Without your support our success would still be dreams.

You are the woman behind my success. Without your support I would have failed every test.

You are the mother of three wonderful children. The fruit of our love and our biggest success.

A grand baby boy is ours to cherish. With more in our future, I hope God will hear us. The years have passed quickly but that's ok. Each day that I'm with you I thank God and say, how lucky I am to be with you today.

You are now sixty and I'm sixty-two. It seems like just yesterday when I fell in love with you.

*Each day that passes by I will love you more than the last.
May the next thirty years be better than the past.*

I'll love you forever, till death us do part. So have a happy birthday. It's a brand new start.

~Written for the love of my life on her 60th. birthday.~
