Sayse Selects Globalinternet as Preferred International Internet Access Partner

Amsterdam, 14 September 2018, Sayse, pioneer and leading SD-WAN operator in France, has announced they have selected Globalinternet, a leading supplier of Internet Access services worldwide, as their preferred partner to deliver Internet connectivity to their French Multinational customers around the world.

With this partnership, Sayse offers a complete 'SD-WAN + Internet Connectivity' solution to global Enterprises. This turnkey solution is a flexible and cost-efficient WAN service that is truly scalable for any location in any country.

As the IT landscape has quickly evolved over the past 10 years, traditional MPLS/VPNs can no longer accommodate the mounting bandwidth growth and network flexibility demands of modern companies. The rising use of cloud applications forces Enterprises to rapidly scale their bandwidth to ensure a quality user experience. SD-WAN provides companies with increased network agility, to evolve beyond a reliance on one telecom operator and to select the best local supplier for each global site.

Benoît Huard, CEO & Co-Founder at Sayse comments, "In France, multinational Enterprises are looking for a 'One Stop Shop' partner to manage their WAN and guarantee global Service Levels. Most French Enterprises come from a traditional MPLS/VPN environment working with Tier 1 Carriers. Others work with "alternative operators" (Small and Home Office specialists) who aggregate bandwidth from selected operators, primarily in their data centres in France. These models are no longer suitable in 2018. Sayse is disrupting the French Telecom market to support the changing needs of these large Enterprises. It's from this idea that SAYSE was born."

Globalinternet has seen significant growth in the number of Enterprises transforming traditional WAN networks. This trend has increased the demand for local Internet connectivity and decreased the need for private networks. Globalinternet leverages its global knowledge and capabilities to provide the best internet access at the best price available for any location anywhere in the world. The company's local ISP partners in over 200 countries enables them to offer unmatched and quality services to Enterprises transforming their WANs. With this partnership, Sayse
