

FRAMING gathers 30 design brands!

FRAMING will again open its doors this year for the three day design festival in Copenhagen. The Odd Fellow Palazzo will once again provide the setting for the event - on all three floors!

"We all need to get out and enjoy ourselves again, and to gather a lot of fresh inspiration. FRAMING is back at the Odd Fellow Palazzo, where we will again be showing modern design in these spectacular historic chambers. Our objective is to bring the ambience and atmosphere of the exhibitions in the palazzos of Milan to Copenhagen. I have been involved in 3daysofdesign from its inception, and I understand how important location can be. That's why I am especially pleased to be able to invite the public into one of the city's finest Rococo palazzos," says FRAMING founder Samira Kudsk.

The impressive structure from the mid-1700s will offer space indoors and on the grounds to 30 exhibiting brands from Denmark and abroad. A number of high-end international brands have noticed FRAMING and chosen to exhibit at the event. This year marks the third edition of FRAMING.

When design enthusiasts from around the world gather in Copenhagen this June, they will find a dynamic scene - a vibrant venue filled with fresh ideas in furnishing that showcases objects and projects by young talent and established designers. The whole city is a stage, an animate platform of inspiration and at FRAMING you are invited to a number of design launches.

"From the start, my ambition has been to gather a range of brands under one roof, with special emphasis on offering brands lacking showrooms at prominent addresses a valuable opportunity to exhibit. FRAMING has evolved since then and this year's program will feature a scintillating constellation of exciting international brands. I am proud to be able to raise the curtain for this year's exhibitors from Denmark and all around Europe, including Ingo Mauer GmbH from Germany, Italy's Luceplan, Kettal from Spain and Kastahall of Sweden," says Samira Kudsk.

We look forward to magic summer days for networking, business, meeting old friends and making new ones!
