

TreeTrust

HEAD OF DIGITAL PRODUCT

(m/f/d)

JOBS FOR A BETTER PLANET.

Send your CV to recruiting@treetrust.io to become part of our team!

TreeTrust

As Head of Digital Product, you drive the digital product vision, formulate the product strategy and oversee all product delivery efforts.

Your responsibilities:

- You own and shape the vision and strategy for digital product and services of TreeTrust
- You know and understand our customers to be their voice within the team and translate their needs into (digital) services.
- Collect and analyze feedback from customers, stakeholders and other teams to shape requirements and features
- You manage the execution of great ideas and implement product development processes that allow fast results.
- You set up discovery streams to identify, validate and conceptualize new features and services
- You are a key leader in the executive team and set the standards for product management, and for technological implementation
- You build up a delivery-oriented development team
- You set the KPIs and measures to determine and track the impact and success of development and product

You should have the following skills:

- Strong experience and track record of digital service / product ownership and development
- Proven customer-centric development approach and experience in digital environments
- You have a strong analytical mindset and knowledge of tracking and reporting tools for product development
- You have excellent communication skills and can switch easily from technical discussions to stakeholder pitches.
- Strong business sense combined with a pragmatic mindset
- Experience in leading teams
- Technical knowledge in further (Product Mgmt) tools (Jira, Confluence, Google Analytics, etc.)
- Technical knowledge in cloud development and DevOps (MS azure) is a plus

TreeTrust

About TreeTrust

We are active in fighting climate change. We facilitate new climate projects of highest quality for enterprises and create trust with transparency. We focus on carbon removal by scaling up the restoration of tree cover through mechanisms of the carbon markets. TreeTrust facilitates the generation of new forests for enterprises, using our expertise in asset structuring, risk assessment and mitigation, climate modeling, and forestry. We have already started projects building >1.000 ha new forests, sequestering more than 600.000 tCO₂ in the next years. With you, we want to scale these activities to help solving the climate crisis with highest quality projects and apparent climate benefits.

We offer:

- Engagement in a central climate change topic - 100% purpose on restoring tree coverage
- Work in a creative environment that gives you a wide decision autonomy to shape our engagement within an international setting
- We grow - and you grow with us
- Flexible work environment(s): onsite in Munich / remote
- Participation in the success of our business
- The combination of strength and stability of an international reinsurance company with the spirit, flexibility and agility of a startup

