

Specright & Lorax Partnership: Streamlining Sustainability Reporting & Compliance

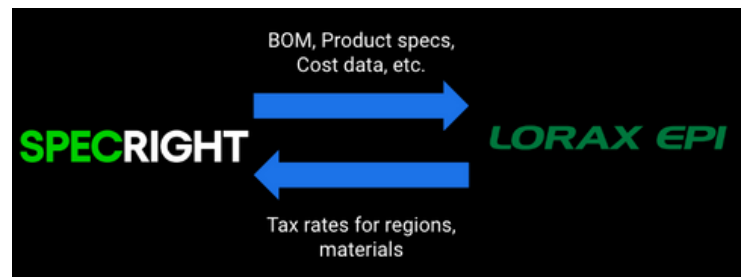

The partnership will enable companies to integrate their comprehensive specification data in Specright with the Lorax system to ensure compliant EPR reporting. This allows companies to reduce financial implications around the new legislation.

What is EPR?

Extended producer responsibility (EPR) is a highly local policy (with 400+ schemes globally) making producers legally and financially obligated for end-of-life waste management of the packaging they place on the market.

EPR is extremely challenging for companies to keep track of because:

- Being compliant with regulations around the world has become increasingly difficult and time-consuming.
- Organizations don't have baseline information currently

Lorax EPI Services

Software

- Global EPR reporting software
- Data integration

Subscriptions

- Guidebooks
- Webinars

Consultancy

- EPR Cost Analysis
- EPR Compliance Assessments

"Through our partnership with Specright, companies can focus on the data requirements and have confidence that what they're reporting is comprehensive and accurate – avoiding unnecessary fines, whilst providing greater transparency.

–Michelle Carvell , Chief Operating Officer, Lorax EPI

