The company prides itself on providing a home-away-from-home for guests with its Airbnb-inspired accommodations, along with all the amenities and conveniences of a hotel. Many of Basecamp Resort properties are BUILT GREEN® to reduce their impact on the environment.

Sky McLean built the modern mountain hospitality brand from the ground up. Born and raised in Ontario, McLean got her MBA in real estate from Schulich School of Business at York University. Her appreciation of the outdoors and winter sports led her to move to Calgary after graduation. At age 29, McLean purchased her first property, a condo in the mountain town of Canmore that she rented out on Airbnb. She instantly fell in love with the business model. In 2017, at the age of 33 McLean opened the doors to Basecamp Resorts Canmore, a boutique modern mountain hotel property with 32 apartment-style suites that provides guests all the comforts of Airbnb but with the amenities and conveniences of a hotel - as well as spectacular views from every angle. Soon after McLean launched the Basecamp Resorts brand, and every property she has opened since has been modelled and designed with the same intentions in mind.
